Sagar in Andhra Pradesh was investigated in the year 1994 by the Site Selection Committee (SSC) of the Department of Atomic Energy (DAE). This site could not be pursued due to difficulties on account of environmental clearance. Kovvada in Srikakulam District of Andhra Pradesh is among the sites investigated and assessed by the present SSC of DAE.

No decision has so far been taken by the Government regarding new sites for setting up future nuclear power reactors. At present, nuclear power projects have been taken up at sites for which clearances have already been obtained. The Site Selection Committee constituted by the Department of Atomic Energy is also evaluating new sites for setting up nuclear power stations, at a future date, in different regions of the country, including Andhra Pradesh. The setting up of a nuclear power plant in any region depends upon different energy options available to the region, availability of suitable site, future nuclear power programme and availability of financial resources.
